

Clus

you are a very special person.
We've had some very special times. But the best is yet to come. I Love You John

Kris Kleffer ponders the play in the game.

BARBARA, WES, JANEEN: THEY'RE ALIVE UP!

THANKS for being SUCH an important part of all of this for us. Guess who's DESTINED TO WIN?
+ "we're not ashamed" AND we love you MUCH,
October 23 Cindy + Ursula
I'M YOURS! "THAT'S ABOUT THE BEST CUP OF WATER
I'VE EVER TASTED."

Mrs. Marino and her Spanish "estudiantes" love those pinata parties!

Hey! Kristen, Eric B., John, Eric A., Susan, Amy!!
— SOUND FAMILIAR? — Let's rent I'm smashed! Sure the Meaning let's go out whatever of Life! to eat! Hippoach!
MURDER — Poo!! —
NEVER FORGET THE FUN!!!
FRIENDS FOREVER!
David

Kristen, I
This year has been great!
Love, David

DOODLES

The Future Holds A New Perspective

Each of us will carry the memories of this year far beyond the last day of school in June. Some of these remembrances will be similar and some will be very different—each will be significant.

The freshmen will remember the fear of arriving at the “big” building with countless new faces to greet them. They’ll also recall how those strange faces gradually became familiar and how satisfying it was to feel comfortable here—in essence, to have become a part of Kenmore East. They’ll remember the activities in which they played a role, and they’ll be able to look back at 1987-88 as the starting point of many new friendships.

The sophomores will look on this year as a year of fun—a year that didn’t contain the anxiety and frustration of freshman year or the difficulty of junior year. They’ll see this year as a time when they were really able to settle into K.E. life, build their friendships, and enjoy themselves.

The juniors will remember the work of 11th grade, the most challenging year in high school. Their memories will be sprinkled with fears of Regents exams and S.A.T.’s as well as the first thoughts on college—whether or not to go?—where to go? Junior year is the time for many questions to be asked if not answered. This year will be remembered fondly though—juniors are busy people—busy studying and busy being involved.

What will the seniors remember? We’ll think of all the good times spent with friends—the laughter and private jokes and weekend activities and long talks . . . we’ll remember feeling apprehensive as well as excited about the future—we’ll remember filling out forms and making decisions and being so busy that there was hardly time to consider what our lives might someday hold. But, sometimes we found ourselves wondering if our lives would turn out the way we dreamed they would.

We found ourselves hoping that we wouldn’t be considered a failure by our 5th class reunion. We wondered if we’d be able to stay close with our friends, the people who were so important to us. We wondered if we’d be happy and successful. And then we stopped wondering and started living our futures. We started looking forward anxiously to graduation—to our fresh start—to our chance to make a difference in the world.

And when we pick up our old yearbooks in five, ten, or twenty years and can’t put a face with the signature we’re reading or even remember what was so funny about a certain phrase, that will be okay. There won’t be any returning to the past then, but we won’t really want to go back. We’ll be fortunate to have many terrific memories to recall and relive in our minds.

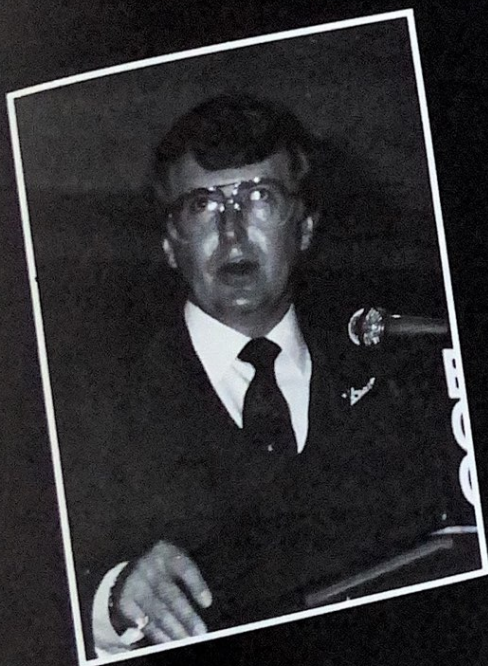

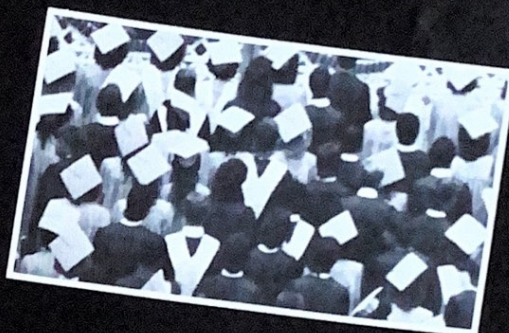

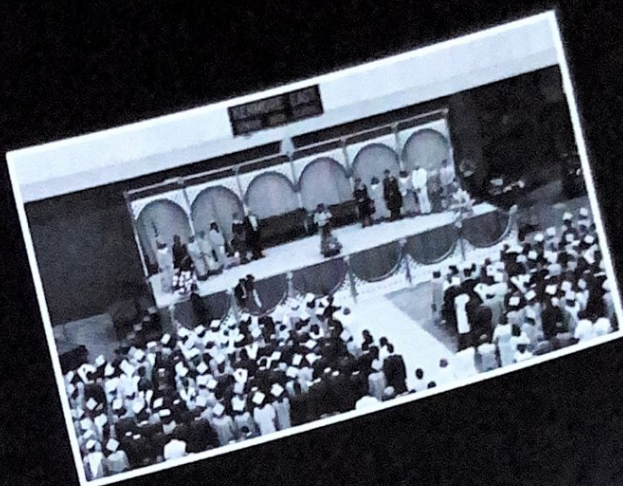

An unknown author once penned, “There is a past which is gone forever, but there is a future which is still our own.” We have much to remember but much more to do. We have challenges to take, games to win, and new memories to make.

AND

Perspective

Reaching anxiously for tomorrow, uncertain of what the future holds;
Looking back,
tasting a memory-sweet . . . bitter (wishing for the chance to relive a moment).

Holding today,
living the gift,
making the tomorrows
and forever yesterdays
stand still . . .
as today's new challenge unfolds.

 ACTIVITIES . . . "Oh, are they going in the book?"
 "Everyone can type."
 "What do you mean there are no photographs?"

 "Who knows this girl?"
 "I can't think anymore."
 "Sue, can you draw . . ."
 "What do you mean we have two more pages?"
 219 . . . the mess!!!
 219 . . . all cleaned up for a day
 index, index, index . . .
 FUN!!!

We are indebted to our families, friends, and the faculty, administration, and staff who showed such patience and support . . . to Mrs. Root who so willingly shared her expertise again . . . to Miss Kolb and Mrs. Miller who did whatever they could to help . . . to the Davises and Adamases whose children dedicated so much time and energy . . . and to the special group of editors who pulled together in February to make the '88 SPECTRUM a reality. It is a testimony to OUR commitment and to the support that we received from the people who love us. Indeed, it was a herculean effort that produced an Olympic edition in '88.
