Can you see across the Lake? The pristine town with the white wash walls, Little kids running across the street without fear of being hit by a car. What they are afraid of is the lake; for beneath its calm waves is a torrent of evil and hate.
The Lake is a mirror of Life itself.
All that is on the surface is what you want to see and beneath is what we all want to be.
Only we can't because the Lake stops us.
Yes, we do try to escape, that's when the Lake calls upon its companion, the Wind, to make the water choppy and Impassable. We are subdued and go back to the little crevices where we hid our time until the Lake gives up his vigil and we are free to wreck Havoc on the small town, destroying, burning, bringing its whole life to its knees.
We think we have won so we go back to the Lake and mock him. He tricks us and takes us back to the abyss from whence we came. A day passes and we look towards the little town and see it as beautiful as ever.
Because all they did was reapply another coat of white wash.

The Race

It is the dawn of truth & light but somehow I can't see why the hunters of the night would aim their bows at me...

I open my arms and let them fire and when they do they'll know that I have made my funeral pyre my scars can tell them so...

This forest is an eerie place-savages of hate and fear... my uncertainty shows upon my face I feel I might fall here...

So then I try to begin to run tears stream down my face the hunters chase me just for fun on my life, I must win this race.

Suddenly I stop and turn to peer into my pursuers' eyes my face begins to sting and burn my trembling chin starts to rise

With a core of silk and steel
I push my shoulders back and then my scars will start to heal my determination is on track.

Hunters fling arrows at me
Yet I stand proud and tall Only when they reach my heart is when and how I'll fall...

And when they leave, I'll rise again I am hurt but proud and tall For it's not if you win or lose but if you rise or fall

Jennifer Dunn Grade 11

Black-Eyed Susan

You were the knight who conquered all and set the princess free.
She doesn't have long golden hair,
In fact, she looks like me.

You came and slain the wicked witch that lived inside her dreams.
You broke her chains and let her out and sewed her shredded seams.

A damsel in distress she's not but a role she consented to be when she found herself adrift on a bleak unending sea.

The handsome prince bestowed on her a smile of warmth and love and she knew the brightest stars shone on her from above.

But suddenly she was all alone in her cold dark tower room.
The witch was slain by her own hand she noted in the gloom.

Where is my prince to take me up and fold me in his arms?
Was it that I only dreamed
Of his courage, love and charms?

As she lay upon the stones,
brimming with despair,
a little man appeared to her and stroked her short red hair.

"Don't despair my lion-heart,
After all you've been put through.
Someday you're prince will surely come he's lived and loved for you."

She raised her head off the stones and listened through her pain to words that lit a ray of hope-the rainbow after rain.

"If in all the world there's only one how will I ever find the man who saved my heart and soul though only in my mind?"

"I honestly don't know," he said,
"But this I can tell you, souls that are meant to find their mates are very far and few."

"Without his strength I can't go on,"
she sobbed into the night.
The little man sternly frowned,
"You know that isn't right..."

"We all can stand up straight alone
You know it must be so...
and would it be so horrible you couldn't bloom or grow?"

"But flowers need a gardener," she told the little man.
"For gardens only thrive and grow with nurtured loving hands."

"No, you're wrong." He grinned again with both solemnity and glee a black-eyed Susan he gave to her
"Some flowers bloom wild and free."

My Brother

Jim Fink grade 11

What do you do
When a brother turns to you?
What do you say
When the nightmares
don't go away?
You see him crying on the bed, Soaked, shaking, and torn.
Tears of pain of friendships
long gone,
And those here to stay
But for the most part,
The one closest to the heart
One he never had,
'Cause he never got along with dad.
Lots of thoughts running through his head
Not yet able to mourn,
Since dad is still here

And things can be fixed
But, he still gets so mad.
Look in the mirror Contemplate the early years.
Pray for the day,
When things can be a different way.
He thinks about those who are wed
And are to be born
To a family with just a lonely mom. Why do they have to pay?
Fatherless and careworn,
About to falter
Chained to something that can't be altered
Their relationship dead
No second chance given,

April Rose

It's the April rose that only grows in spring.
It's your soul that touched my silent heart and taught it how to sing.
It is the happiness
written in the stars.
It is the heartbeat
that together is ours.
It's when I see you that my heart skips a beat.
It's when I'm troubled and I can't admit defeat.
It's my emotions that are overwhelmed with all the feelings in me.
And without your gentle touch my life will be so lonely.
But for us,
our love was in the past.
I wish we were still here.
I wish we had last.
Every beat of my lonely heart
Tells me that we should have never part.
I still love you so
I've got to find a way.
I pray that we'll be back together someday.

But it is hard to trust this, because we've been wrong before But I dream, and I wish,
and I pray for more.
Now with tears
overflowing in my eyes.
No one is there
to hear my cries.
I miss what we had a long time ago.
But you're in my heart
And this is always so.
I love you so much.
And it is you who I miss.
I remember your warm touch,
And your soft kiss.
So lift me up,
before I fall.
I need your love,
I need it all.
For I believe
Fairy Tales come true.
Not only in my dreams
is there me and you.

AN OVERVIEW OF EVENTS AND PERSONALITIES OF THE YEAR

After an extraordinary year of "he said/she said," President Clinton's fate was in the hands of the Senate. The embattled president faced impeachment on charges of perjury and obstruction of justice for his conduct in the Monica Lewinsky sex scandal. Clinton, who admitted to having "an improper relationship" with the former White House intern, became the first president in 130 years to be impeached by the House of Representatives. A final resolution in the matter would come after a Senate trial, where a two-thirds vote is required for impeachment.

Using a number-crunching system few understood, polling in the inaugural NCAA Bowl Championship Series resulted in a Fiesta Bowl match-up between No. 1 Tennessee and No. 2 Florida State. The Volunteers beat the Seminoles, 23-16, for the national championship.

Thirty-six years after becoming the first American to orbit the Earth, John Glenn was rocketed back into space on the shuttle Discovery as the world's oldest astronaut. The mission of the 77-year-old former U.S. Senator was to serve as a test subject for NASA's research on aging.

The New York Yankees wrapped up one of Major League Baseball's most memorable seasons with a record 125 wins and a World Series sweep of the San Diego Padres. It was the Yankees' second world championship in three years.

Apple's new iMac, with its futuristic design and translucent exterior, made a big splash in the computer industry when it was released in August. Both eye-catching and affordable, the iMac was an instant hit with more than 278,000 units sold during its first six weeks.

St. Louis Cardinals' first baseman Mark McGwire slammed 70 home runs on the season to eclipse Roger Maris' 37-year-old record of 61. McGwire's heroics were mirrored by Sammy Sosa of the Chicago Cubs, who finished the season with 66 homers. The late-season duel between McGwire and Sosa captivated the nation and was credited for revitalizing baseball, which was still suffering from the fallout of the 1995 players' strike.

Michael J. Fox, star of ABC's "Spin City," broke seven years of silence when he revealed he has Parkinson's disease. The 37-year-old actor, best known for his work on the "Back to the Future" movies, had surgery last May to alleviate symptoms of the disease.

Mounting tensions in Iraq came to a head when Saddam Hussein refused to comply with U.N. resolutions regarding inspections of suspected manufacturing sites for chemical and biological weapons. In response, President Clinton ordered a series of air strikes against Iraq. Dubbed "Operation Desert Fox" by the Pentagon, the air raids by U.S. and British forces lasted four nights and included the destruction of the Iraqi military intelligence headquarters and several weapons facilities.

NBC's highly rated sitcom "Frasier" set an industry record by winning its fifth consecutive Emmy for Outstanding Comedy Series. "Frasier" began its sixth season on a new night, filling the coveted Thursday time slot previously occupied by "Seinfeld."

Voters in Minnesota made a statement against mainstream politics when they elected Reform Party candidate and former professional wrestler Jesse "The Body" Ventura to the statehouse. The Harley-riding, cigar-smoking new governor promised Minnesotans he would return $1 billion of the state's $3 billion budget surplus to taxpayers. Ventura, who served one term as mayor of suburban Brooklyn Park, Minn., was one of only two independent governors in the nation.
