

Student Life.

2004

2005

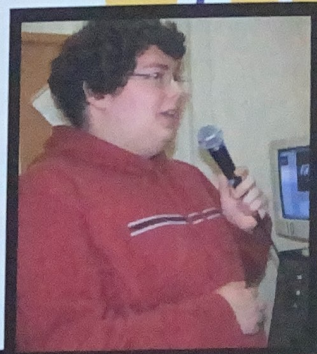

Student Life
2004-2005

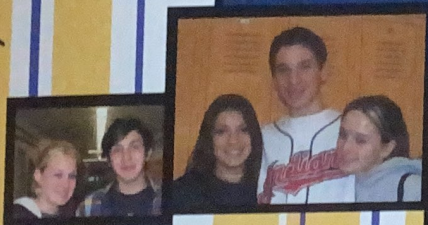

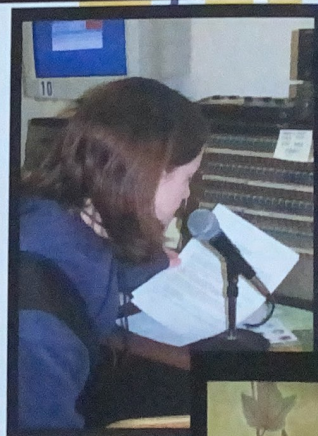

Announcements

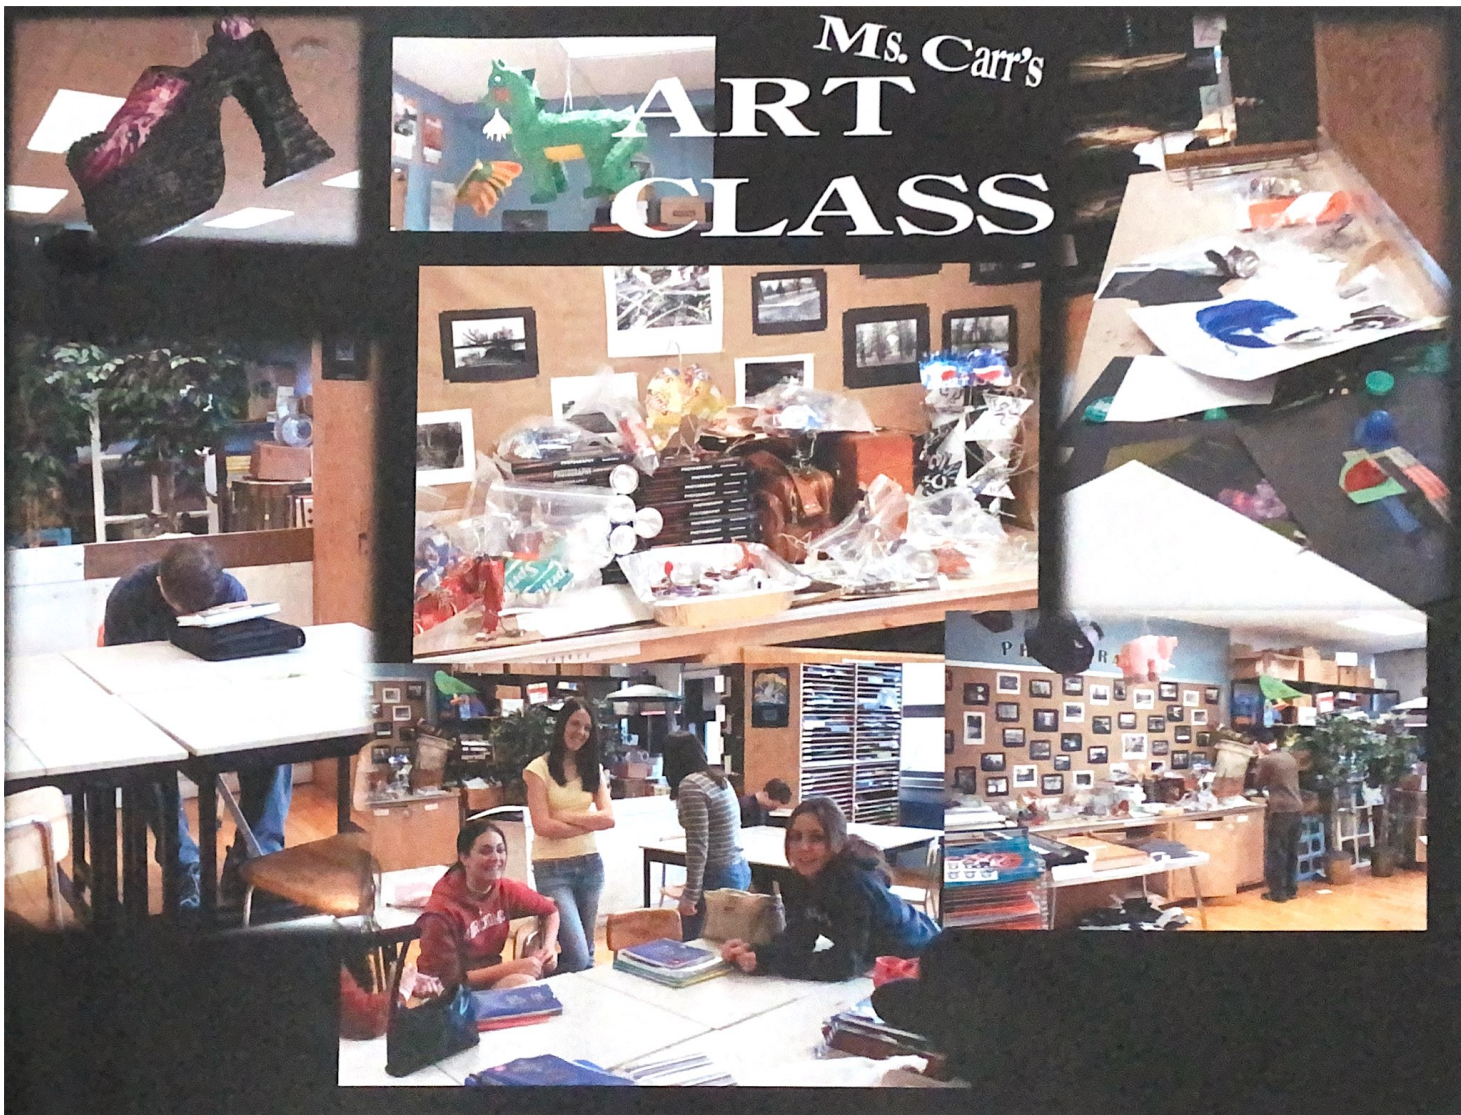

Morning

Afternoon

Ms. Carr's
ART CLASS

business club

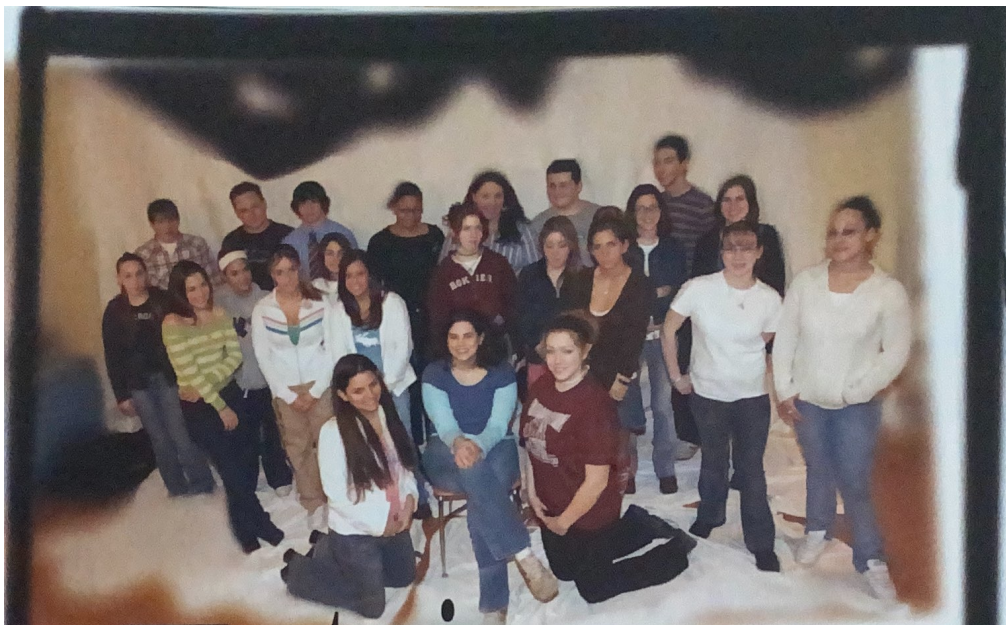

DECA

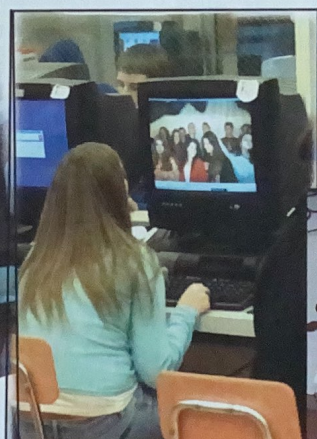

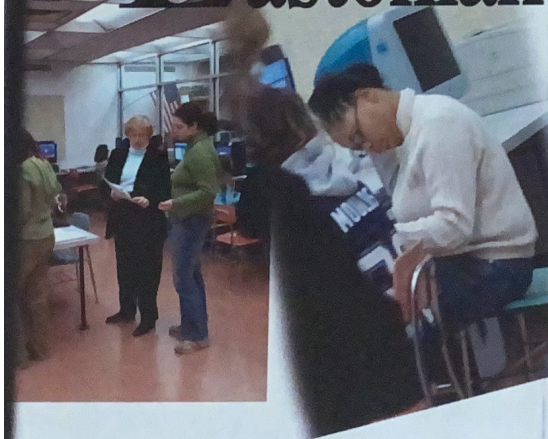

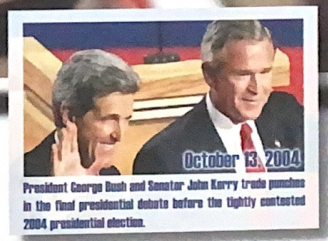

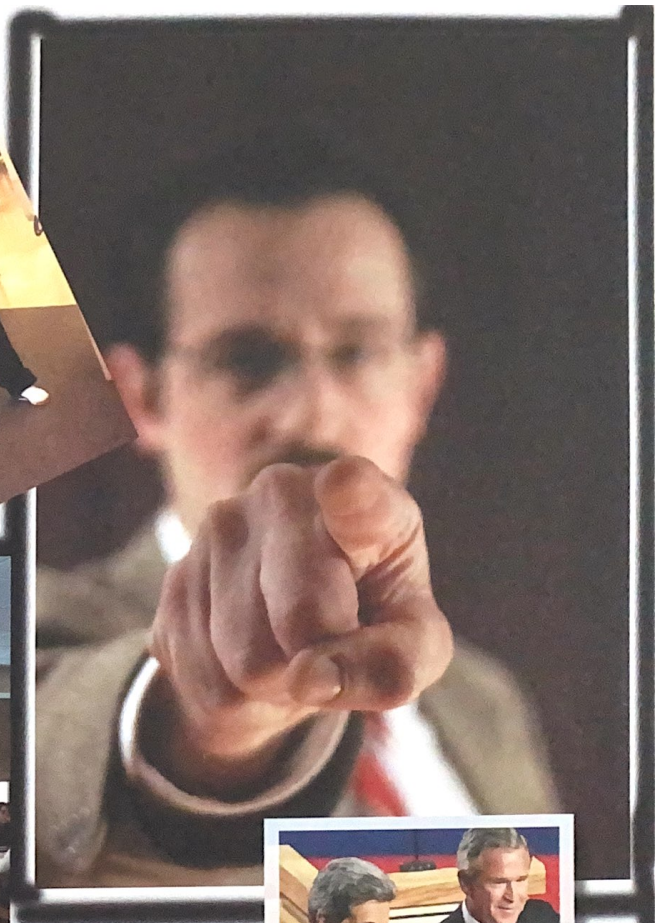

Technology period 3

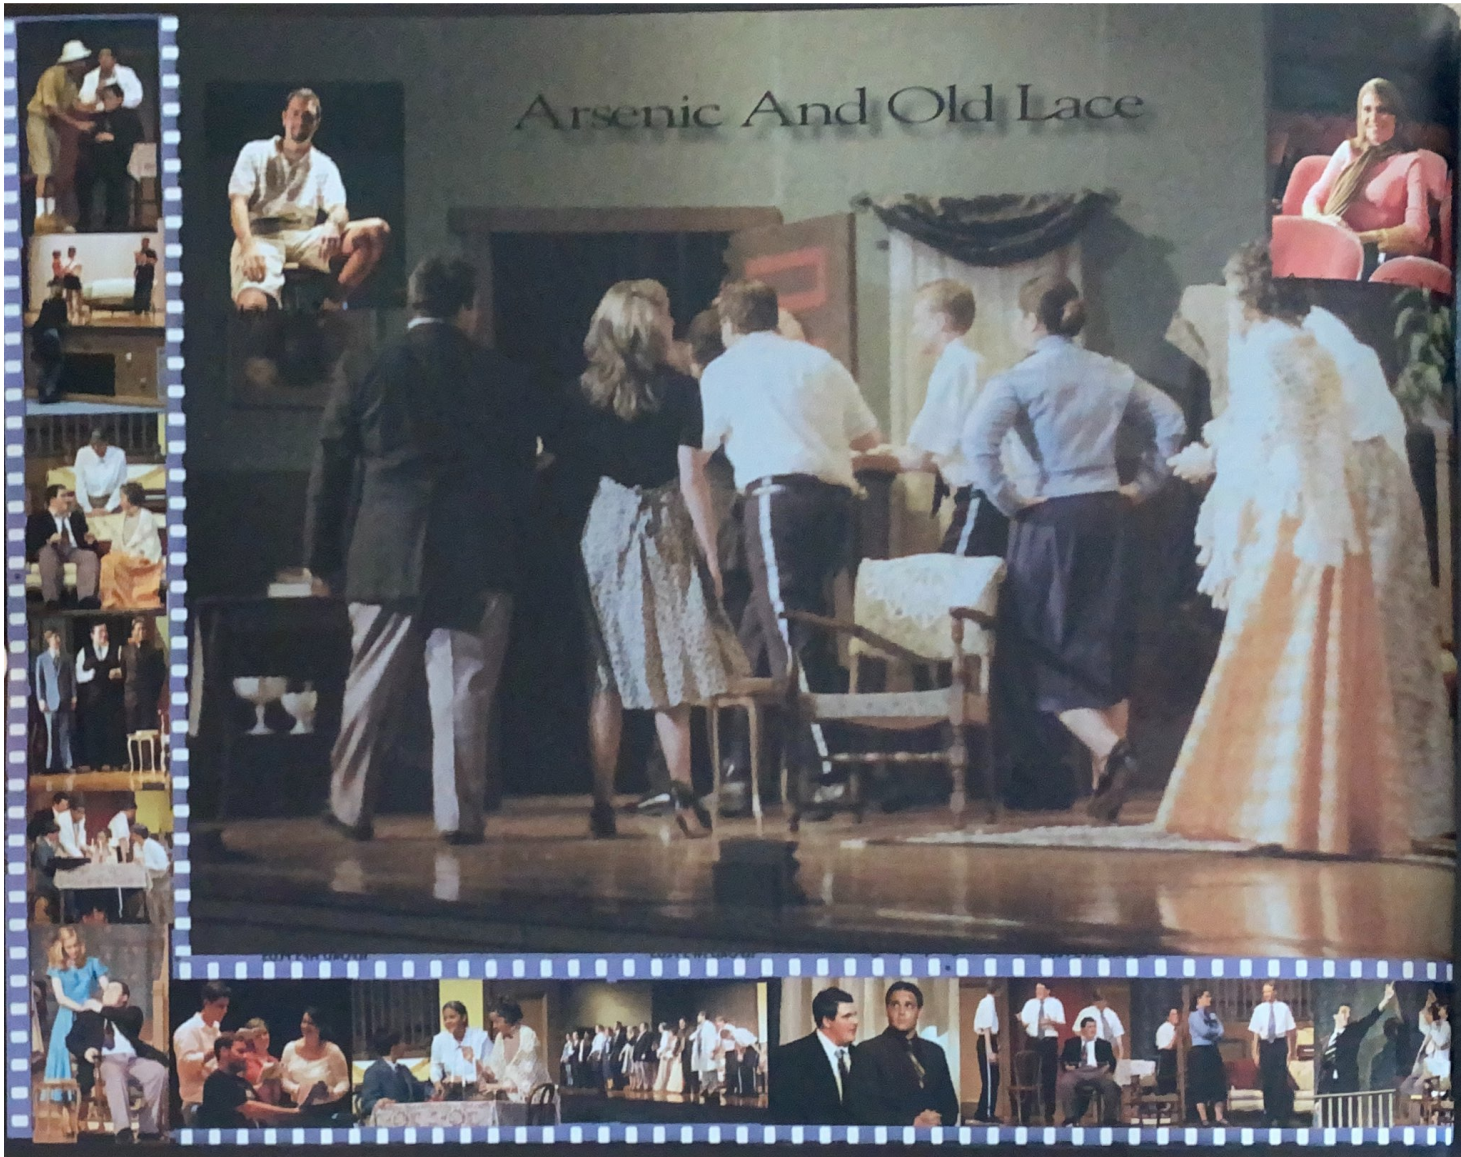

Estonian

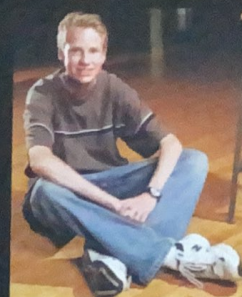

President George Bush and Senator John Kerry trade punches in the final presidential debate before the tightly contested 2004 presidential election.

Arsenic And Old Lace

The Cast

David Ward

Jason Paeplow

Gary Jones

Kevin Andrews

Mike Guerin

Mike Wear

Erin Brignone

Codie Kremblas

Brian Shaffer

Gino Pinzone

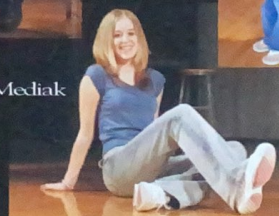

Joanna Farrell

Nicole Teti

Jill Mediak

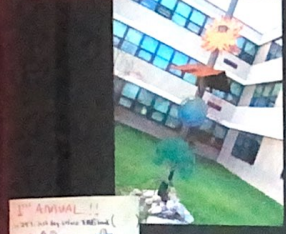

David DiNeza

ROOM 365

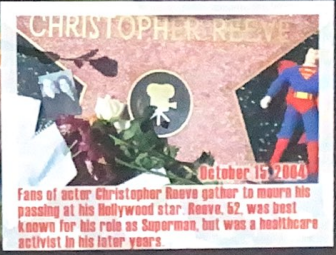

WilderNESS club

1st ANNUAL!!
illegest journal contest/party

4 YEARS OF WAITING

FRENCH

CLASS

October 23, 2004

More than 1,100 flag-draped symbolic coffins create a moving image in memory of the service men and women who have died serving in Iraq.

Multimedia

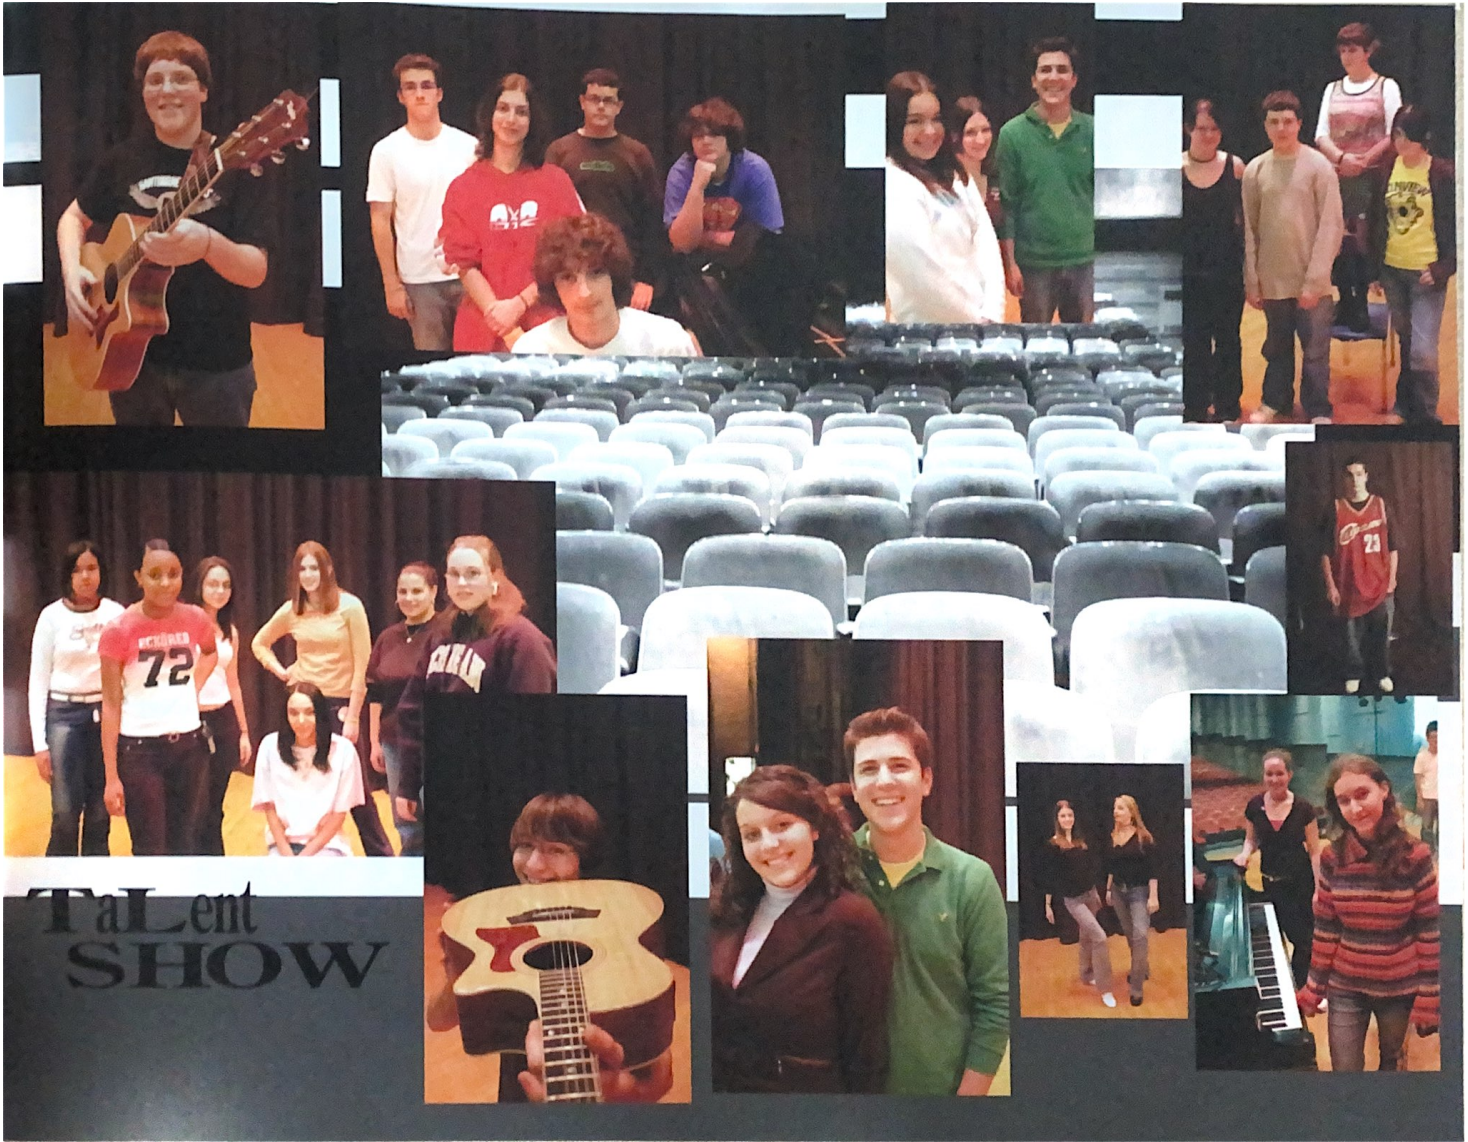

Anime

Mrs. Dailey's period 7
English class

TaLent SHOW

Mr. La

s 4th period geniuses

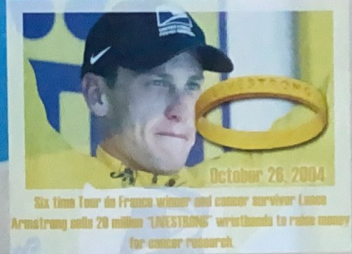

Comedian Jon Stewart has a successful year with 2.5 million Americans tuning into 'The Daily Show. With Jon Stewart' to watch his presidential debate analysis. His book, America, sold over one million copies.

Spanish Club

Spanish Class

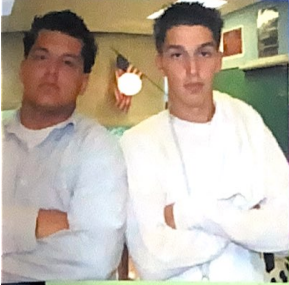

Six time Tour de France winner and cancer survivor Lance Armstrong sells 20 million "LIVESTRONG" wristbands to raise money for cancer research Complementary colors are any two colors opposite each other on the Color Wheel.

A group of seven students posing in a classroom. A young woman stands on a desk in the back, wearing a white hoodie with '25' on it. Other students are seated or standing around her, some in front of a chalkboard with handwritten notes.

M g e
/
U
N

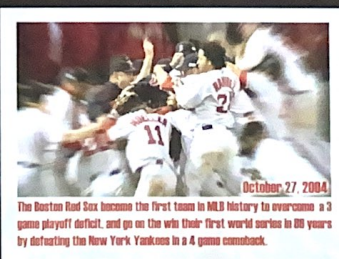

November 2, 2004
President George W. Bush wins re-election in one of the most hotly contested presidential races in modern times.

German Club

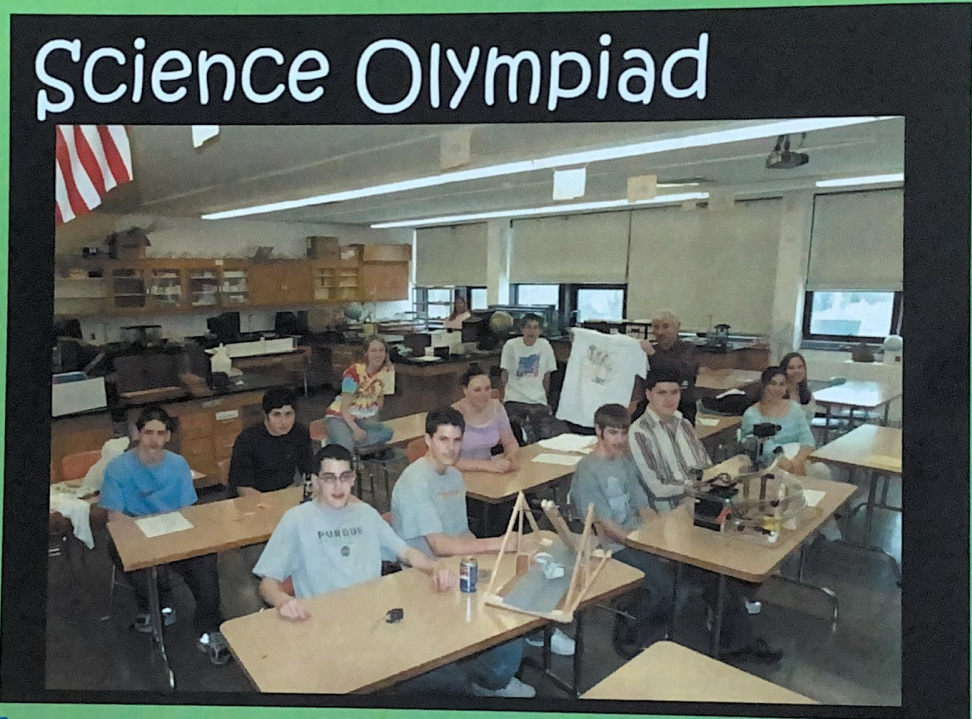

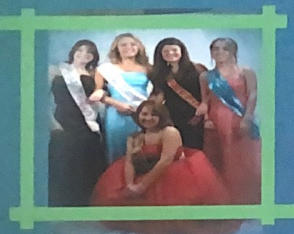

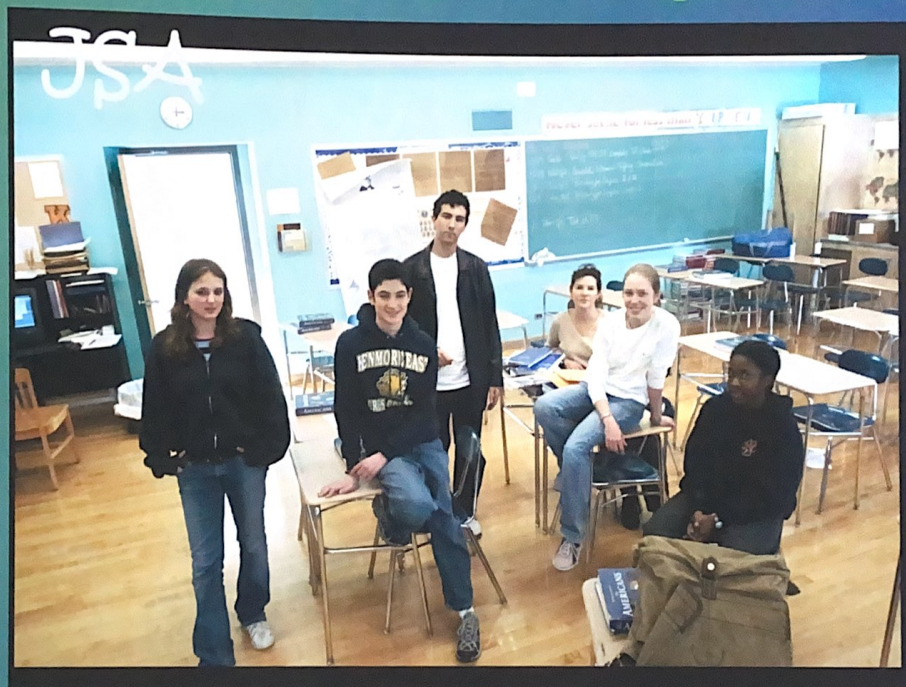

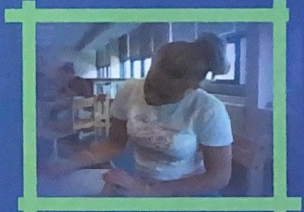

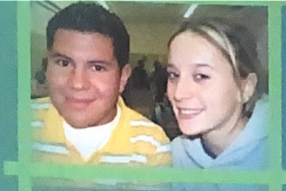

Mrs. Thielman's English 11

October 27, 2004
The Boston Red Sox became the first team in MLB history to overcome a 3 game playoff deficit, and go on to win their first world series in 86 years by defeating the New York Yankees in a 4 game comeback.

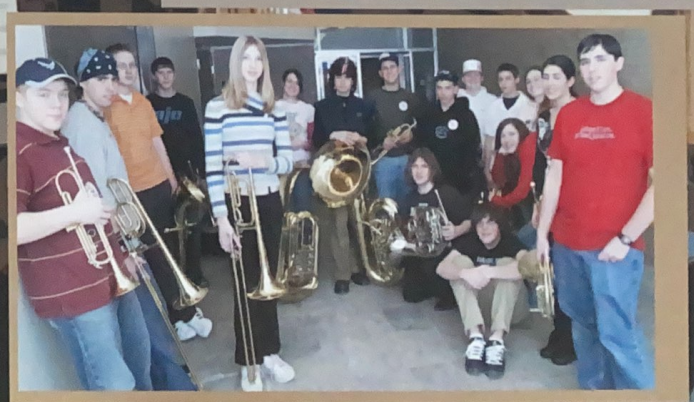

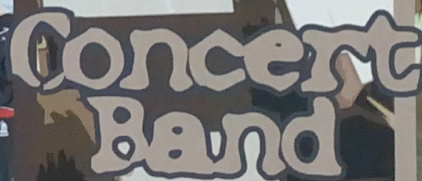

wind ensemble

section leaders

all county band

ellington all stars

mural committee

capital U honor band

band council

full orchestra

jazz band

STRING ORCHESTRA

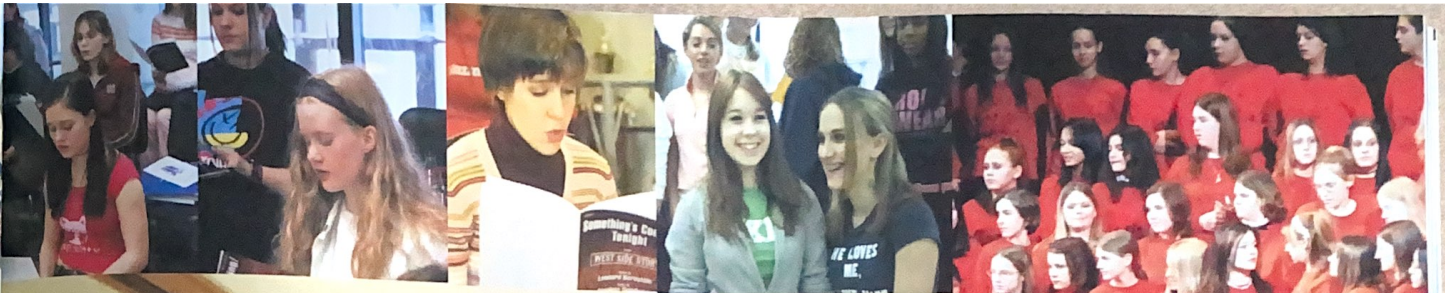

String Ensemble

Women

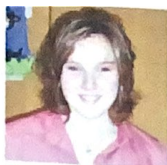

Chorus

Company Of Song

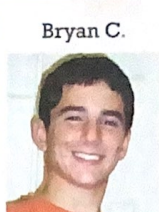

Amber P.

Mary G.

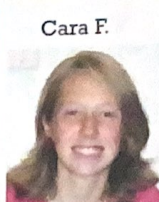

Brent H.

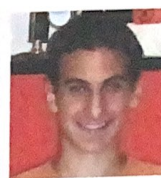

Bryan C.

Brian S.

Cara F.

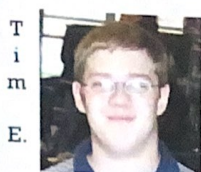

Charlie H.

Kelsey C.

Dan R.

Tim E.

Megan G.

Nick D.

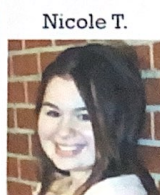

Nick K.

Sarah M.

Lizzie S.

Nicole T.

Mike W.

Melissa R.

Amber P.

Lori W.

Kim B.

Ginette B.

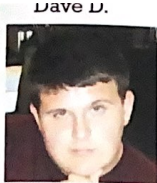

Seniors

Section Leaders

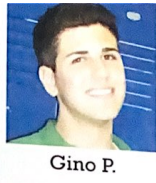

Jessie M.

Dave D.

Gino P.

Jason P.

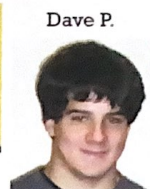

Erin B.

Maria D.

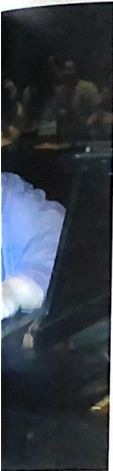

Jess W.

Dave P.

Jason K.

e

Erie County

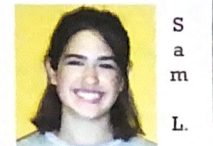

Officers

Joe K.

Dave W.

Sam L.

Josh D.

Katie B.

Sean C.

Jill M.

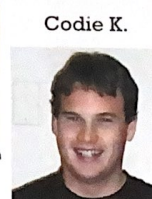

Noelle S.

Kevin A.

Sabrina D.

Codie K.

Joanna F.

Rebecca K.

Rebecca Kroetsch

Cara Fisher

Erin Brignone

Gino Pinzone

Joanna Farrell

Sean Crawford

PETER PAN

THE LEGEND

Katie Boswell

Michael Wear

Chris Bunker

Sabrina DiFrancisco

Nicole Teti

Brian Shaffer

Ski Club 2004-2005

SNOWBALL fight

R a c e

U n i T y

c l a s s

Kenmore East

ional

HONOR

Society

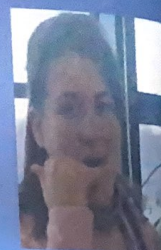

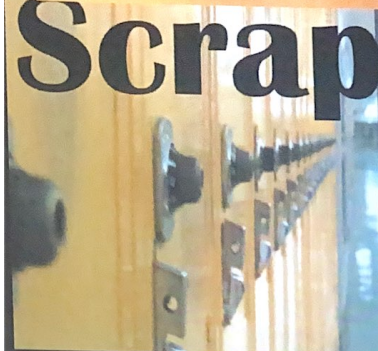

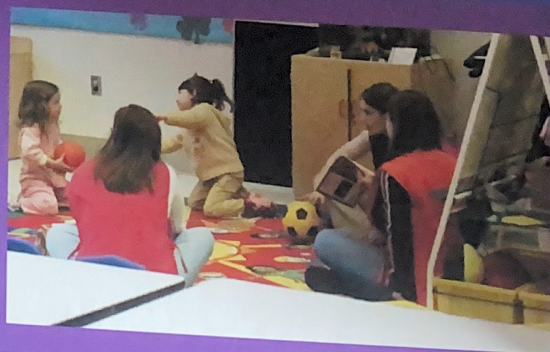

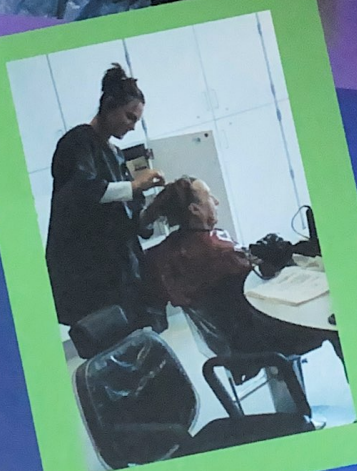

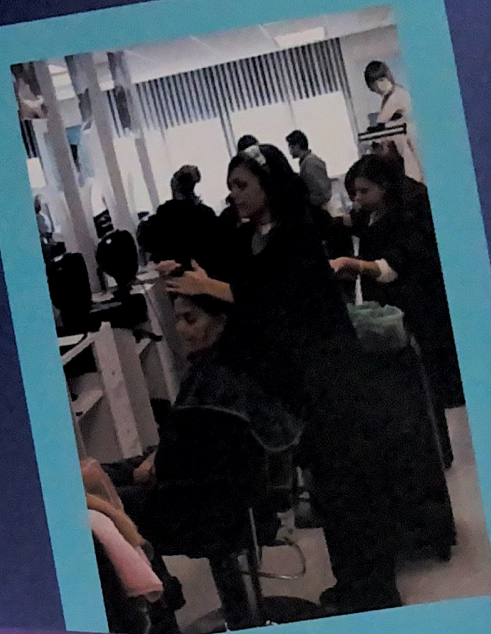

Scrapbook Club

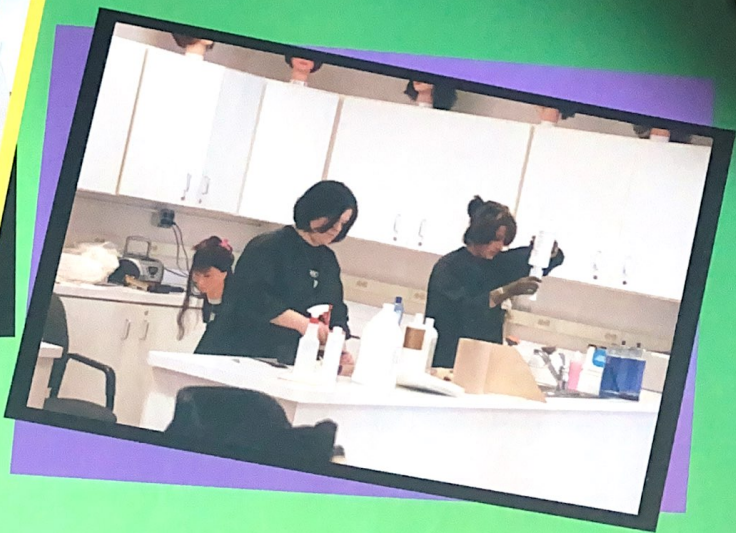

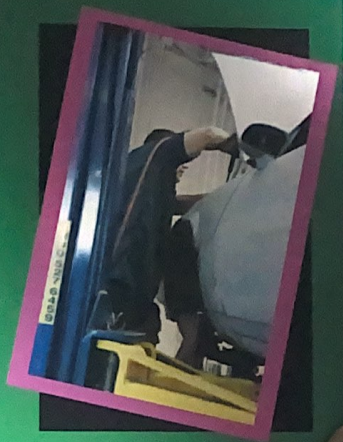

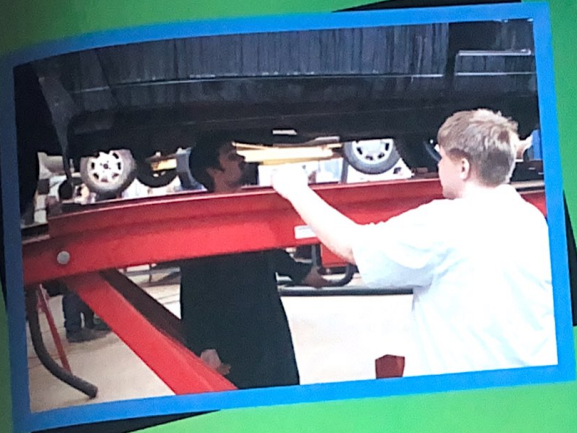

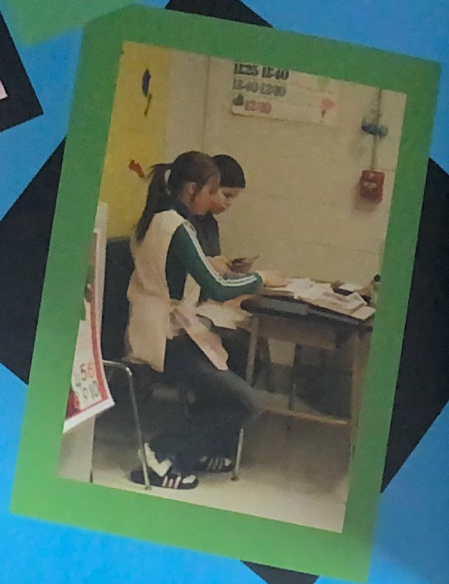

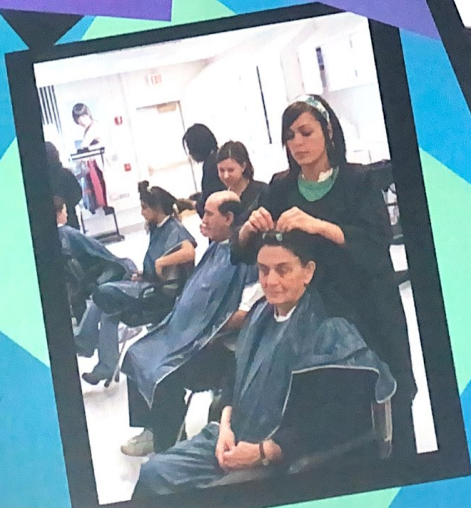

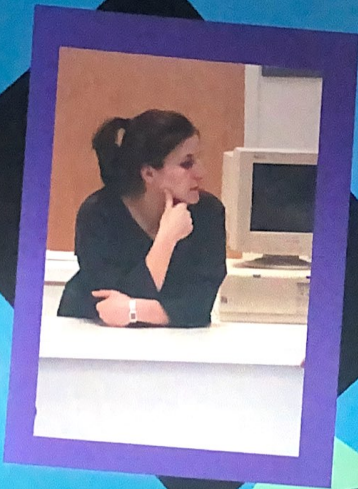

Mastermind Club

B O C E S

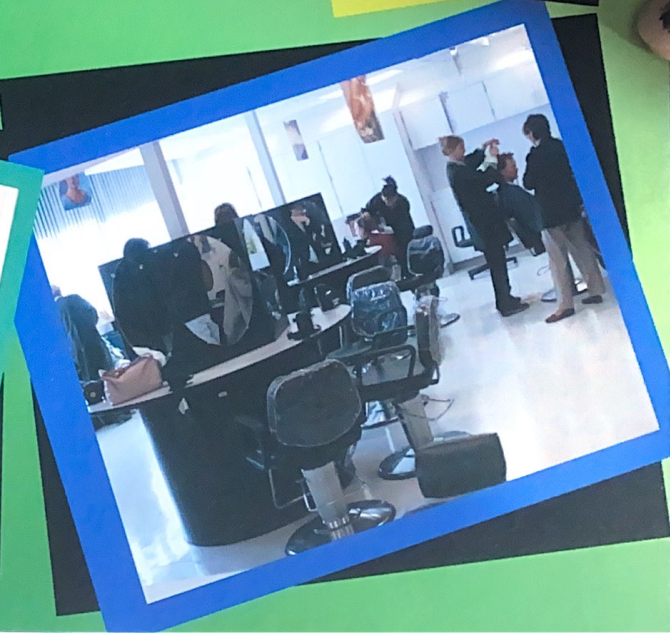

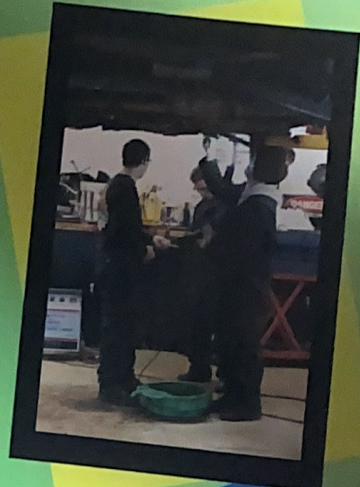

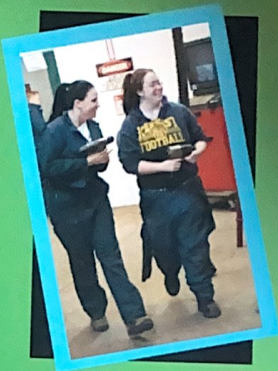

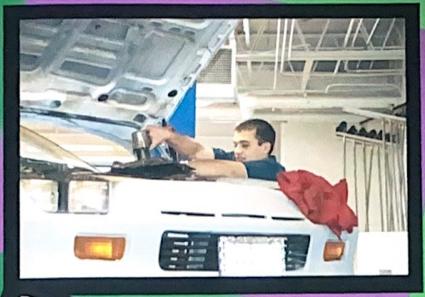

BOCES

B O C E S

There seems to be a tendency in education these days to focus on data and numbers to measure the success of both students and school districts. Every student has to prove their worth with a series of foppish numbers quarterly averages, GPAs, weighted test grades, class rankings. Numbers are perfect...the foolishness occurs when people get a hold of them and attempt to use them as representations of total student achievement. The leaders at Edison demonstrated how perfect numbers could be manipulated for imperfect purposes. Our politicians downtown continue to poignantly illustrate that men and women with diplomas on their walls bestowed on them by passing curriculums with impressive grades don't guarantee leadership or success. Education is a horribly boring thing when you look at spread sheets and studies or read books by theorists who have campy educational notions. Unfortunately, many leaders in education have adopted this very strategy in an attempt to improve the quality of their students. Those responsible for finding solutions to our specific educational challenges need to close their theory books, cancel conferences and seek solutions where they really are in our schools. Direct conversations with teachers and actual students will be much more enlightening and much more helpful towards improving education than lining up numbers, making PowerPoint presentations and screening data.

Numbers may help us build better cars or design better robots, but they won't do much in our quest to develop more interesting citizens or to tell the stories of young men and women in our school who do great and interesting things. These students are successful in many divergent ways. Their numbers are variously good and not so good depending on the category, but their stories and personalities are great.

A way from the numbers

speed

Justin Craddock

National...not local or state...but National Champion in the 800 meters.
Justin's face is not well known to other athletes who compete against him, but his backside is...think about it.

style

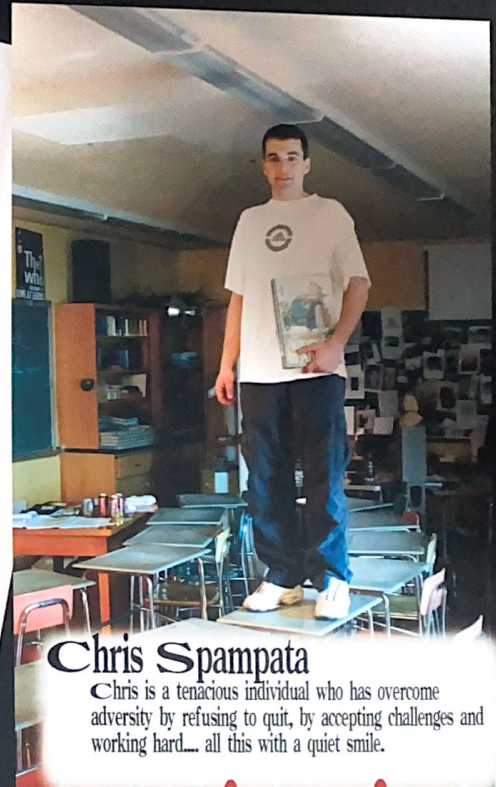

Maerten
Doucette
Cromyn and Freund

quick wit, weird ideas and risk taking with a propensity for rule breaking... they could be punk band or the next Steve Jobs.

grace

Cara Fisher

Cara is a young woman of many talents. Don't ask her about them; she is extremely humble. Her singing voice is just as impressive as her scholastics. Her kindness is the first thing teachers comment on. This planet needs more people like Cara Fisher.

Chris Spampata

Chris is a tenacious individual who has overcome adversity by refusing to quit, by accepting challenges and working hard... all this with a quiet smile.

determination

Jack Dafgard

Shakespeare recognized the importance of the clown in drama and real life. They both cause grief and relieve it... they offer insight at odd times and make us laugh.... Dafgard is a classic clown...without the big feet and stupid nose.

Kelly Mendola

Kelly has hockey on the brain. She had some varsity opponents shaking their heads in disbelief this past season when given the nod to start in her first varsity game... good stuff for a freshman. Unlike the so-called pros in the NHL, she plays for love of the game, not a bloated salary.

Gino Pinzone

Gino has become a masterful performer at Kenmore East. Whether it is musical, comical or dramatic he can do it with verve. He's got one more year left...

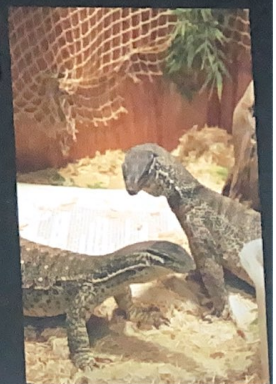

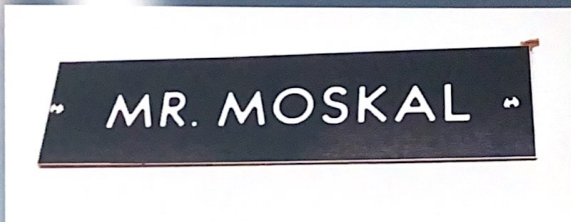

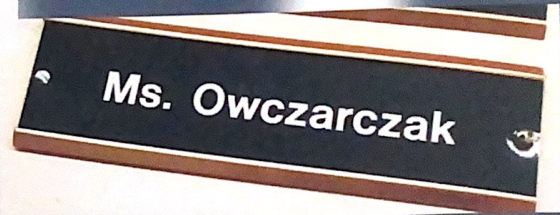

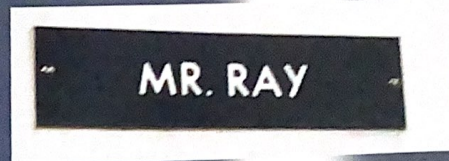

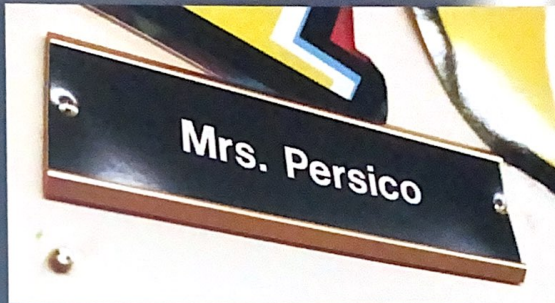

Bryan White

If you need a lyric from the classic Who's Next album, find Bryan. If you want to know what year The Wall came out, ask him. He'll have the answer faster than a Google search...internet be damned; it's all in his skull.

Chelsea Becker

Chelsea is no Ophelia. She kicks a# on the soccer field, cranks out great essays and seeks her education with tenacity and class. As a sophomore, she has two more years to build on her impressive high school career, but the staff is not suprised by her success.

MR. BAILEY

aculty

Mr. Aguglia

Mr. Scaduto

k uglia