

February 2020

Since 1988 a group of teachers from the Kenmore and Clarence School Systems has sponsored an annual sleepout on the first Friday in February in order to help people in need in the Buffalo area. This group of teachers is known as Educators Totally Committed (E.T.C.), and its long term goal is to have the United Nations designate the first Friday in February as a “world-wide school day to help people in need.” The attached letter and flier gives information regarding this project. If you may know of any person in education anywhere in the world that may be interested in this project, might it be possible to get the letter and flier to them via an e-mail or regular mail, with E.T.C. paying the postage? Your help would be very much appreciated by E.T.C., and would go a long way in helping to promote this project world wide. If you may need any further information whatsoever, please feel free to call Steve Ash at 716-694-4492 at any time, or e-mail at allhelpall@yahoo.com. Thank you.
